

Mission: To promote community health and development through capacity building, participatory research, and co-learning

Context/Conditions: Widespread engagement in global health and development efforts; Limited evidence base for how communities create conditions that promote health and development; New communication technologies; Collaborative partnerships across contexts.